'I'm a very lucky man'

Praise for poolside rescue after heart attack

BY STEVE SCOLE

steve.scoles@hpnorthants.co.uk

Lifeguards at a Northampton leisure centre used a defib unit to restart a man's heart at the side of the pool.

The Mounts Baths staff have been praised for their professionalism by 71-year-old Michael Meaden after he collapsed and was revived within minutes by lifeguards using a defibrillator machine.

Michael, who also survived a heart attack 25 years ago, was ten minutes into a regular early morning swim two weeks ago when he felt something was wrong.

"I swim to get fit because of a previous heart condition, I can swim for an hour no problems. I had only been in five or ten minutes and at the shallow end I felt a bit breathless. I paused and went into hyperventilation. I thought it was unusual but it passed off."

"I decided to do another length slowly. I got almost to the deep end. I couldn't put my finger on it. I didn't feel right. I thought I best exit the pool. I climbed the stepladder out onto the side. One of the lifeguards had come out of the plant room and said: 'Are you all right?' and I just went straight down. Cardiac arrest."

Duty Supervisor Laura Ingram, 36, said: "One of our lifeguards Matt was in the right place at the right time. He started speaking to Michael and he collapsed. He sounded the alarm at the same time as Jo – one of our First Aid trainers – saw from the pool seat that something was wrong."

Laura said: "It was training and teamwork. I was thankful that Jo was stood there too. She knew exactly what she was dealing with. He had blood on his face from the fall. We knew it was not an airway issue so it was 'let's get his heart working'. I was doing chest compressions while they got the defibrillator.

"As the pads go on, the machine gives you instructions. We stood back and it said 'shock advised'. He had that glazed eye stare. As soon as Matt pressed the button – boom – he was trying to sit up."

Michael, who lives in West Hunsbury with his wife, said: "What I want to emphasise is the training and the response of the guys at the pool. They were absolutely magnificent. One of the girls was at my side giving me CPR within seconds really. Then they went to get the defibrillator and they brought me back. It only took about four minutes and they brought me back."

"I can't thank everybody enough. The ambulance crew and the paramedics were with me. There was a team waiting for me as we rolled into A&E and within minutes I was being taken up to the heart unit in the General. Altogether it was about 20 minutes the whole episode. The doctors were saying: 'wow you were a lucky man, they were absolutely on top of their game to do all that. They must be well trained.'

Michael has now been fitted with an ICD – a pacemaker than can restart his heart if there is a recurrence. The former Foreign Office radio communications engineer said: "I was so lucky they had a defibrillator. They are brilliant machines."

Michael has returned to the pool since the incident to personally thank his Trilogy saviors.

Editor's Letter

We are expecting too much from our best known brands

The scandal of Volkswagen's software dodge to pass its American emissions tests has been revelatory.

There is a certain amount of shock that such a respected brand has been caught cheating.

And let's face it, people who spend a little bit extra for the assurance of VW quality and engineering excellence, are not going to be impressed.

It shows us how much more than money we invest in our brand loyalties these days.

We live in a world where priests, popstars, policemen, MPs and even journalists have been exposed for betraying the public's trust.

But brand loyalties are different.

We expect M&S to care about the quality of its prawn sandwiches.

We don't really doubt that John Lewis is ever knowingly undersold.

And we expect Volkswagen to solve its problems (and our problems) with clever and efficient German engineering.

If you are clever enough to design a car that can fool an emissions test, why not?

In fact they did but it was clever and efficient software engineering rather than mechanical engineering.

When the vehicles were tested to see how much carbon they released into the atmosphere, the software was able to effectively tell the engine to hold it in until the engine was not being tested.

If you are clever enough to design a car that can do that, why wouldn't you?

Of course it doesn't do the environment much good.

But on the other hand how much do we really care about the environment if the tests we design to protect it are so feeble?

Are we really leaving it to motor manufacturers to ensure that their engines are emitting safe levels of carbon dioxide?

If we are that stupid, then there is little doubt we will end up with the world we deserve and I suspect, a somewhat poisonous atmosphere...

REFUSE DAY: Bin day in Northampton means lids closed or no collection

Wasting no time with open bins

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

A resident in Hunsbury Meadows was left flabbergasted when the borough council would not empty her brown wheelie bin as the lid had been left open.

Debbi Williams tweeted the council: "Hunsbury Meadows brown bin not emptied despite just grass cuttings and 2 dead plants #notsurewhy #whatsyourexuse"

The council replied: "Thank you for your tweet please can you confirm your full address and we will investigate."

Ms Williams then sent her postcode and the council replied: "Thank you for your tweet, due to your bin lid being raised we will not be able to recycle your bin."

On NBC's website page for weekly waste and recycling collections it states in the brown bin section: "All bins must be presented with their lids in the closed position to ensure that no waste escapes prior to collection. Any bins that do not comply with this request will not be emptied and a request for a missed collection will be declined. No side waste (additional bags or boxes) are permissible.

On the council's own waste collection web page wheelie bins and food bins are shown with their lids open, alongside warnings that open bins won't be collected.

Deputy leader of the opposition Labour group Cllr Gareth Eales said: "This is silly and there needs to be some flexibility."

"I believe most people will think it's daft and draconian not picking this bin up because the lid wasn't fully closed."

Emily sets sights on Olympics

Lawrence John speaks to under 18 England hockey star Emily Kilner about her aspirations

For Under 18 England hockey international Emily Kilner, the game has to be fun otherwise it is time to hang up the hockey stick.

The teenager who is head girl at Northampton High School, has taken 26 steps or in her case caps on the hockey ladder and is aiming to be selected for the Great Britain team to go to the Olympic Games in 2024 or 2028.

Like any sportswoman she is dealing with the here and now, which in her case is balancing the needs of her education and hockey.

Luckily, Emily, 17, who plays for Leicester Hockey Club is able to separate the two, compartmentalising each so neither crosses into the other.

Last year she was selected for the Under 18 England team for the second year in a row.

Speaking about the first time she got to wear the England shirt she said: "The first time I played for England it was an adrenaline rush and I really don't remember much about the game.

"I was filled with a sense of pride and a sense of living the dream, but now it is something different and each game is exciting.

"I am more at ease now but I am part of a team which wants to do well

"I have been picked for the Under 21 GB squad which was great and the ultimate aim is to reach the Olympics as this is the highest you can get in hockey.

Emily, who plays in midfield, described her role as to retain possession and to have good ball distribution.

As she explained, it combines both elements of defence and attack.

Her rise in the game, while not slow, did take her by surprise. She said: "I played hockey outside school for a club and then got selected for the Midlands trials when I was 14/15 years old.

"I did not get through and at the time it did not matter.

"The next time I did and that was when I realised I had potential, it just meant working at it and taking it seriously and training hard.

"I am not sure if I am a different person when I go on the pitch to the one off it.

"I suppose when I am on the pitch and playing well I am more talkative as I am in the game.

"There are moments when I am so focussed I have come off the pitch and someone has told me that pass was great and to be honest I cannot remember even doing it.

"One of the problems is to over think. You have to react and do some things without thinking, just reacting and being in the moment of the game.

"I am just in the zone, playing and what happens does at that time.

"I do not have any rituals – the only one I would say comes close is I do eat a banana half an hour before we warm up before a game.

"The school is very supportive of what I am doing and does give me extended time on some work but other work has to get done before I attend a tournament.

"At home I have a big chart telling when I need to get assignments done and when the next hockey match is coming up."

Lost for words at plight of refugees

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

A researcher from the University of Northampton says she has been profoundly affected by the plight of refugees after volunteering in Budapest.

Dr Saneeya Qureshi, pictured, a researcher in Social Innovation and Impact, went to a conference in the Hungarian capital, but found some spare time to help refugees who were camped at Keleti Palyaudvar in the city.

She said: "Their resilience and their zest for life, their humble gratitude and their positivity at having escaped the trauma and violence of their homes reduced me to speechlessness time and time again.

"At one point, two men and a woman came to comfort me when I turned away with tears in my eyes, not wanting them to witness my weakness in the face of their courage and their happy demeanours. These refugees have so much dignity. They're so brave and positive. I'll never forget them as long as I live. Something inside me has changed forever."

The University has collection points at the Newton building reception (Avenue Campus) and the Senate reception (Park Campus) allowing people to drop off items for refugees.

It is part of the Calais Action initiative.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Scorpion aims to sting hard

BY LAWRENCE JOHN
lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Northamptonshire Police this week launched a crackdown on violent crime in the county.

The Chief Constable of Northamptonshire, Simon Edens, wants to make sure people's safety in the county is not put at risk.

The chief made a promise that his officers and staff would, through Operation Scorpion, tackle all types of violence including domestic violence and bring those responsible for these acts before the courts.

Speaking at the launch of the initiative on Monday he said: "We will support people who suffer from violence and bring the offenders to justice for the violence they commit."

"Over the next three months my officers and staff will focus on violent crime and aim to prevent it from happening."

"For us domestic abuse goes to the heart of a person's sense of security."

"This means a person cannot feel safe or secure in their own home and this is a threat to that person's quality of life and security, which then affects their family."

"We aim to keep people safe in their own homes and this is the top priority for Northamptonshire Police."

"Operation Scorpion is based around using a range of tactics to reduce violent crime and protect our communities from harm."

"Over the next three months we want to raise awareness that violence is a real threat and to say violence is not acceptable in the county."

Superintendent Dennis

OPERATION SCORPION: Chief Constable of Northamptonshire Police, Simon Edens

Murray, who is running the operation, added: "We want to see repeat offenders go down."

"When we arrest someone for violent behaviour we will tell them why they have been arrested and find out how we can stop this happening again."

Caroline Shearer, from the charity Only Cowards Carry (www.onlycowardscarry.org/), also spoke at the launch from a victim's perspective.

She was invited by Supt Murray who had met her on GMTV.

He wanted his officers to understand the impact violent crime has on an individual and a family.

Caroline lost her son in an unprovoked knife crime incident three years ago in Essex.

She now runs the charity to raise awareness of the dangers and consequences of carrying a weapon.

She wanted to make people across the county aware about knife crime and the dangers and to stop it happening.

Warning issued about bogus police

People across the county are being warned about a new scam which involves members of the public being called by someone claiming to be from the Northamptonshire Police crime prevention team.

A woman contacts the member of the public via telephone and requests personal details including name, address and when they are usually at home, and offers to have CCTV cameras installed.

Paul Golley, Prevention Team Leader at Northamptonshire Police, said: "We will never phone someone who has phoned you without checking who they are first. Any genuine caller will be happy for you to hang up and call them back on a phone number you already have. Never call someone back on a phone number they have given you."

Useful tips from the police: Never give personal information over the phone to someone you don't know; always question why someone is calling you and asking for personal information and Call police on 101 if you think you have been targeted by a scam.

QUESTION TIME:
Chris Grayling on his visit to Northampton School for Boys

Leader of the House grilled by NSB pupils

Politics students at Northampton School for Boys grilled Leader of the House Chris Grayling MP. He was a guest of Northampton South MP David Mackintosh and enjoyed a brief tour of the school before meeting sixth form politics students for a question and answer session.

Headteacher Richard Bernard said: "We are very pleased to have him here so our students can learn about politics in this way. Today is particularly beneficial because of the level of office Chris Grayling holds. We would welcome politicians from all the parties."

Mr Grayling saw a number of classes in action, including swimming in the school's new state of the art pool. He then made his way to a meeting room for the Q&A session with sixth formers.

He described his work as Leader of the House, which will soon include the induction of new Labour leader

Jeremy Corbyn into the Privy Council – the elite group of politicians who meet with the Queen.

"Of course there will be the issue of whether he kneels before the Queen which will be interesting," he said.

Afterwards Mr Grayling said: "It is clearly a great school with fantastic facilities. You can tell when you walk into a classroom. It has been a very engaging session."

See our website for more pictures of the visit.

X Factor's Jamie is ready for challenge

BY ANDREA PLUCK
new@hpronths.co.uk

X Factor contestant Jamie Benkert paid tribute to his hometown of Northampton after passing the first boot camp challenge with a group performance of What a Wonderful World.

The 25-year-old, has come this far after receiving three yeses at his audition, when he sang a medley of pop songs, including his rendition of Uptown Funk.

Jamie, who attended Thomas Beckett school in Northampton, said: "I do genuinely want to say a massive thank you to everyone from Northampton who has been supportive and sending me lovely messages.

"I hope it continues and people stick with me".

The challenge showed judges Rita Ora and Cheryl Fernandez-Versini enjoying the singer's vocals in the garden of a country hotel.

"You don't really notice what the judges are doing, until you look back on YouTube.

"I didn't even know through the challenge that Cheryl was smiling, because your mind's in a million places.

"It's weird watching yourself on TV, but it's great memories to look back on.

"I keep forgetting in a way that I've been doing X Factor and people look at you when you're walking in the street and I'm thinking that I've done something wrong".

Jamie – whose resemblance to Olly Murs has been remarked upon – will now take part in the second challenge of the boot camp round which will involve singing a song chosen from a list provided by the judges.

"It sort of puts you out of your comfort zone in case there isn't a song on there you would have necessarily done, it sort of shows if you're an artist or not".

The health care assistant lives with only his mother, who is also his biggest fan.

"It's been mad the response, honestly my Facebook inbox is crazy.

"My mum is the top supporter really, I would definitely say she's number one."

Nicola Buck

Northamptonshire actress, Nicola Victoria-Buck is working in California. She writes a regular monthly blog for the website and the paper. Here is her latest chapter from her diary of a Northamptonshire actress

I love autumn/fall, no matter what city you are in, it always feel like the start of an exciting adventure.

I guess that school year clock tick tocks on ferociously long after we graduate.

In the acting world it marks the countdown to award season, the infamous pilot season and Pumpkin Spice Lattes at Starbucks.

I was honoured to support the multi-talented, and fellow BAFTA-rette – Sarah Lynn Dawson, who wrote and starred alongside Deepak Chopra and Jon Foo in the deeply inspirational film Duality.

Foo's character travels between different universes, meeting the enchanting Emerald as he navigates through internal and external conflict and shows us how great the power of choice truly is.

At the 2015 HollyShorts Festival, I loved seeing Hollywood actor and producer Kash Hovey rock that red carpet, a master skill in itself, and of course all the incredible outstanding film work.

Particularly noteworthy was the hilarious and thought provoking The Brief, Existential Crisis of a Young Underwear Model starring Max Van Bel, the simultaneously

Your Views

Sixfields - I am not giving up on this anytime soon

I am delighted that Jeremy Corbyn is the new Labour leader as he has managed to galvanise support from people who were completely demoralised with our manufactured greedy politicians that infest all the main political parties.

The three main parties are terrified of him because he does not care a jot about spin doctors and following the corporate party line, he is an educated man with integrity and passion, values that are lacking in the three main parties!

Over the past months many people have asked me to continue with asking questions about the Cardoza Sixfields deal and I have been given all sorts of information not in the public domain

There are also those that will come forward if we have an open inquiry with information that they feel unable to disclose for fear of legal action against them under the confidentiality clause.

Our council has acted disgracefully with regard to managing Sixfields

Stadium for two decades and the reason that the opposition parties aren't saying more is because they are as guilty of maladministration as the Mackintosh council that pushed the Cardoza deal through.

To be honest I don't blame Mr Cardoza for maximising his profit. Our councillors, on advice from limp legal officers, thought they were being clever and offloading a dead donkey onto Mr Cardoza. However, he is an ex stock-broker and much sharper than the arrogant and ill educated dross of a council that inhabits the councillors club at the Guildhall.

But if you want to shut me up then fine, give me the answers on how the Sixfields deal is in the best interests of the council tax payer, the wider community and NTFC. Is that so difficult?

It is not difficult but the truth will be embarrassing to certain politicians and some council officers who either advised them or condoned flawed decisions by keeping their silence.

So if and when this deal goes through then I shall put in an official request to The Local Government Ombudsman concerning the failure of NBC to safeguard the best interest of the council tax payer and the failure of my local councillor to treat my repeated questions on the matter with even the courtesy of an acknowledgement, and the arrogant behaviour of the NBC chief legal officer towards me on this matter.

Just to summarise – I am not giving up on this any time soon because we, the people of Northampton, are not receiving the democratic and open government we are entitled to from our elected council.

Volunteers a firm favourite

HELPING HAND:
Steve Dunstan
from Scott Bader volunteering for a good cause

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

The personal values of volunteering are being realised by employees of a Wollaston firm through a successful company scheme, giving them time to devote to community projects.

Steve Dunstan is a prime example. By day he is a chemical process operator, but he has stepped up to do something on a wider scale.

As a company, Scott Bader encourages its staff to give up part of their work days to help others and to volunteer in the community.

Explaining how this is works Steve, 47, said: "We can either do a day or two half days, twice a year.

"We are doing it in work time so we do not have to give our own time and there are a number of places we can volunteer. There are screens up at work telling employees where they can volunteer.

"The type of jobs include litter picking, working at a food bank or as I am doing today, working at Goodwill Solutions.

The take up rate by people is getting better and better.

"This is the first time I have done this but I will certainly do it again. From my point of view it is getting me to do something different and gets me away from the norm.

"I am also helping other people and I hope making a difference in the community.

"I think it is brilliant as each of us can put something back into the community through different projects.

"It also gives those who do this work a sense of well being."

A great British tradition was upheld in style in the village of Aldwincle at the weekend.

Last Saturday the Aldwincle Horticultural Society Autumn Show was held at the village hall.

The event, which was revived in 1941, opened at 3pm to the public, who could look at the exhibits until 4.30pm when the prize-giving took place, followed by that tried and trusted show essential – a raffle.

The classes included vegetables ranging from potatoes, onions, cabbages and marrows to pumpkins and tomatoes. There was fruit, flowerplants, home bakery and preserves and handcraft, along with children's classes from under 9 and under 16.

The judging had taken place between noon and 3pm before the doors were opened.

One of the judges was John Lawrence, who is one of the organisers of the show.

John, who has been a mainstay of the autumn show for a quarter of a century, said: "We had 450 entrants from the village and surrounding area.

SHOW TIME: A great looking display was laid out at Aldwincle Village Hall

"They all come here to enter and it all helps to make it a community event. It all helps to bring the village together. I have been involved with the show for 25 years, but there are other people who have been involved for more than 40 years."

There is one judge for the vegetables, fruit and flowers; two judges for the cookery, two for handicrafts and one for flower arranging.

One of the judges is a lecturer at Moulton College and one travels from Loughborough for the show.

A person who entered the show for the first time this year was Amy Bolland, who entered with a banana cake.

Amy, who is originally from Tampa Bay in Florida, is in the area as her husband works at one of the RAF bases.

She said: "I entered in the bakery competition but did not place. We do not have anything comparable in America. The nearest is a state fair."

Amy said she would defi-

Michelle Burt, who was brought up in the village, was at the show with her daughter, Emily and son Jack.

Jack had gained two second spots and a third spot in three categories.

Michelle had entered the shortbread section, the vegetable section, the flan competition and the apple pie class. She said: "It is great for people to spend time together and it is nice to have a village event."

FEEL GOOD FACTOR

Good living, getting out there and getting on with it in Northants

An important community hub in south Northamptonshire is about to proceed with its expansion plans following a £20,000 grant from South

Northamptonshire Council
Towcestrians Rugby Club is now home to four clubs: rugby, cricket, hockey and tennis, all with their associated youth teams.

Increasingly the clubhouse is being used for parties and weddings and the club now wants to expand the members' lounge to give them a place to relax while separate functions continue. During SNC's Grants Panels, the club was awarded £19,980 to expand the Members' Lounge and improve the entrance.

60 thank yous

Catherine O'Rourke, who hails from Northampton and now lives outside Kettering, was adopted as a baby and had a happy childhood. But a couple of years ago, she took the decision to trace her birth family.

She approached adoption charity, St. Francis' Children's Society. Catherine was reunited with her mother and siblings, and met new family members.

In the run up to her 60th birthday next year, she will undertake 60 walks (five miles each) to raise funds for SFCS and thank them for their help and support.

Healthy minds

The University of Northampton's Institute of Health and Wellbeing has won a £75,000 research bid to evaluate a groundbreaking new project which aims to change physical activity in secondary schools.

The new programme will run over three academic years from September 2015 to July 2018 and will involve all secondary schools across Northamptonshire. It will be independently evaluated by the university. This pilot scheme is being pioneered in the county before going nationwide.

Refurb key to a brighter future

KEYED UP: Grant has given youth centre a new lease of life

Although it is more than 120 years old, the building which is home to Keystone Youth Centre in Kettering has never looked so good, thanks to a refurbishment.

Since the site launch one year ago, when 250 people attended a bonfire and fireworks party, the centre has gone from strength to strength, with the introduction of theatre, fitness and general well being classes.

Thanks to a £23,000 grant from Mick George Ltd and the commitment of 45 locals and 12 young volunteers from the Prince's Trust programme, the centre can now offer a broad range of new services to variety of associations in far more pleasurable conditions.

The refurbishment consisted of a major internal and external overhaul, with modern insulation, lighting, heating and roof provisions installed, on top of a garden makeover.

The hub is predominantly used by local youngsters and those with physical or learning difficulties to develop new skills.

Dave Lane, Chair of Keystone Youth Centre said: "Mick George bought into our vision and their funding has played a pivotal role in converting Keystone into the thriving community centre it is now. We remain eternally grateful for their support".

For further details and to see if you are eligible for a grant, visit <http://grantscape.org.uk/fund/mick-george-community-fund>.

AERIAL VIEW: All the pupils from Northampton School for Girls got together to spell out NSG as part of the school's centenary celebrations on Tuesday

NSG on hundredth birthday high

Tuesday marked a red letter day for Northampton School for Girls as it celebrated its hundredth birthday.

To commemorate this special event, students and staff gathered on the school field during the morning to form the letters N, S and G for an aerial photograph.

Later in the day, 200 alumni joined together at the school for a whole school birthday party.

During the event, the Mayoress of Northampton, announced the winner of the school's Great NSG Centenary Bake-Off.

The Clare Library was renamed the Muriel Clarke Library after the school's first ever student. In addition to science centre will now be called the Bertha Swirls Science Centre. Bertha Swirls (Lady Jeffreys) was one of the first women from Northampton to attend Cambridge University.

She became a renowned mathematician and physicist carrying out pioneering work on quantum theory.

County PCC not seeking re-election

BY LAWRENCE JOHN

lawrence.john@hpnorthants.co.uk

Adam Simmonds, Police and Crime Commissioner for Northamptonshire is not going to stand for re-election when his term in office ends in May 2016.

The 38-year-old weighed up the pros and cons of running in the election but decided having done this 24 hour a day, seven day a week job for nearly four years it was time to say enough was enough.

The seeds of should he stay or should he go were sown when he was speaking to his six and a half year old son who asked him if he was going to run in the election. Adam told him 'yes' and his son replied 'I hope you lose as I want to spend more time with you'.

It was at that moment Mr Simmonds had to decide what was best for him and his family.

After much soul searching and thinking he is to call time on being the first Police and Crime

Commissioner for the county.

He said: "I am not a believer in going on and on. I believe politicians can outstay their welcome and I would rather people be asking why is he going and not when is he going. This job is bigger than Adam Simmonds and when someone else comes in they will redefine it and change it again.

"One of the things I am proud of is if someone took over the office and did away with everything I have done, they could not take away the fact I was the first PCC for Northamptonshire. That is something I am proud of.

"I feel at peace making my decision and know someone else will take the agenda forward.

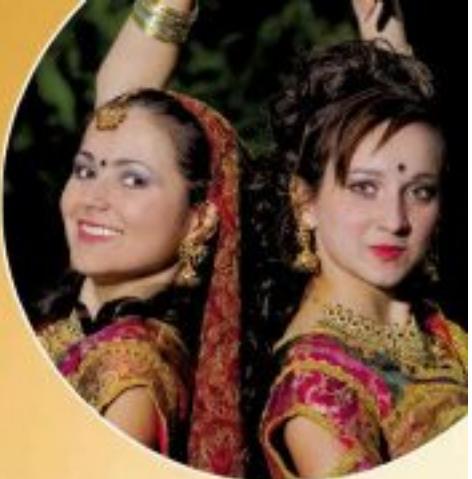

"My last seven months will be busy. There will be announcements on enforcement of road laws, we will be launching more services for victims and we will be setting out in more detail our plans for a strategic alliance between Notts, Leices and Northants Police force."

What Your Agent Has To Say

Who cares wins when it comes to estate agents

Do you really care how your property is marketed, providing it sells? It is a mystery why some vendors appear to misunderstand the prefix 'www' when allowing their homes to be portrayed (on the World Wide Web), as they effectively condone the non-caring approach adopted by certain agents.

We have all seen photos that feature the open toilet seat, the sink debris from last night's supper, the bed looking as though the occupant has only just left, or that discarded item of underwear – now a feature of the room! Did anyone care?

Then there's the description. Just how many times can an agent say 'door to bathroom', 'door to lounge', 'door to kitchen', 'door to bedroom' I

– 2 – 3 – 4', door to bathroom etc! You get the message – is anyone really caring about how your home is presented to the world?

Fortunately, there are agents who care a great deal. At Winkworth not only are we passionate about how we present our client properties, but that care extends to the ways in which we give something back.

This Friday, we are turning our offices into a coffee and home-made cake venue, to raise funds for Macmillan Cancer Support. This is the third year of so doing, and we are aiming to raise a record amount. Macmillan care, and with your help can continue to provide amazing support for those in need.

If you care, why not pop in for a coffee (or tea) and a treat, and

Customer Reviews

“As far as we are concerned Millers dealt with the sale of the property in a most professional way.”

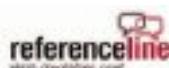

“You went over and above our expectations in ensuring everything was in place and we moved on the date we aimed for. Your professionalism and manner were second to none, and we would have no hesitation in recommending your services to others going on the property ladder.”

“Thank you Matthew. You have been brilliant, I would highly recommend you to friends or family wanting to sell or looking to buy a home.”

“We recently completed the purchase of our property through Millers Estate Agents. It was a very positive experience from start to finish and our expectations were managed perfectly. Carl Myers was very professional and we particularly appreciated his frequent updates on the progress of the sale. Nothing was too much trouble. The whole process was a very refreshing and stress free experience. We would not hesitate to use Millers again when looking for a property or selling.”

“Despite not being a great lover of estate agents Millers were a pleasure to work with and would definitely use them in the future.”

Ice Road Truckers

For me this show on the History Channel has reached mythical proportions.

It was one of those shows I always saw the trailers for but had turned my nose up at and thought low brow trash.

But I sat down and watched an episode of these ice warriors trucking across the frozen wastes of northern Canada.

I have no doubt it is a dangerous profession, with the amount of trucks which had been wrecked and abandoned by the side of these frozen, snowy highways.

These are not roads in the conventional sense, more off road driving in the snow and crossing frozen lakes in order to reach the villages or hamlets.

It was interesting to see how each driver coped with their problems. In the show I watched it centred around one female driver and three male drivers.

While their job rings very true, I watched sceptically wondering how much of what I saw was real and if the clock on screen said 12.31pm and then 4.31pm was it really? How much of the show is staged? How is the film edited to make it seem more dangerous?

I was left asking too many questions. The best part of the show to my mind is the title, Ice Road Truckers, it is a cracker

Suzuki Vitara Take a look inside...

- £13,999-£22,549
- Emissions: 106-130g/km
- 0-62mph 11.4s
- Top speed 112mph
- mpg 67.3(combined)

The Vitara, Suzuki's latest compact crossover, aims to build a lot of talent into four metres. With a choice of petrol or diesel, front or all-wheel drive and styling that's more assured than anything Suzuki has brought us before, it looks to be a competitive proposition.

The mechanicals aren't anything too surprising, shared as they are with the existing SX-4 S-Cross. That means buyers get to choose between either a 1.6-litre petrol engine or a much preferable Fiat-sourced 118bhp 1.6 diesel, both being offered in front or four-wheel drive guises. The petrol engine is fitted with a five-speed manual gearbox as standard with an optional CVT transmission also offered. Go diesel and you get a six-speed manual 'box. The short overhangs will help with off-roading but the 185mm ground clearance isn't that generous.

The ALLGRIP four-wheel-drive transmission features an electronically controlled clutch pack, controlled by a four-position switch on the centre console. Choose 'Auto' and it'll stick to driving the front wheels unless slip is detected, whereupon the rear wheels are pressed into action. 'Sport' diverts up to 20 per cent of torque to the rear wheels to give livelier handling. 'Snow' offers permanent four-wheel drive with the system choosing how much torque to split front and rear, while 'Lock' splits the torque equally between front and rear.

With tight proportions and a front end that has more than a hint of current Land Rover design about it, the Vitara is quite an assured piece of design work.

Suzuki cabins have long been the marque's weak link but this Vitara shows the company pulling its socks up a bit. Okay, so the idea of body-coloured metal across the dash isn't a new one but Suzuki also offers chrome around the gearlever and door trims, plus an analogue clock. It's by no means a large vehicle, breaking the tape at just over four metres long, but still features a 375-litre boot. That's competitive with the rival Renault Captur, although the Suzuki lacks the Renault's sliding rear bench seats.

The portents look promising for this Vitara. Pricing, after all, pitches this car against much less capable crossover models. If you want a vehicle of this kind that's fashionable without being fake, this Suzuki might certainly appeal.

SEAT Unveils New Mii FR Line And Latest Mii By Mango Limited Edition

Every SEAT Mii is a fashion statement. However, the new Mii by MANGO Limited Edition shows particularly individual style with its unique accessories – and just 750 of them will go on sale across Europe. They are recognisable at first sight from the exclusive three-coat paintwork in "Oryx white", with the door mirrors and wheels finished in a powerful, deep shade of red called "Velvet". Exterior details will be matching in some interior details, like the steering wheel, air vents and instrument panel. The sporty character of the Mii is especially enhanced in the likewise new SEAT Mii FR Line. This new version is recognisable on the outside through its exclusive 16-inch alloy wheels, Atom Grey door mirrors, exclusive trim strips and, naturally, the FR logo in the grille. Setting the FR Line apart are its sporty suspension tuning, plus a sporty black interior, featuring high-gloss and red accents as well as unique sports seats with piping and FR logo and leather steering wheel with red contrasting stitching.

Jeep Renegade Marks One Year

FIAT Chrysler Automobiles is celebrating the first year of Jeep Renegade production with a new virtual factory visit tool, accessible via Google™ Maps. Launched exactly a year ago, the Jeep Renegade was a ground-breaking vehicle for the brand in that it was the brand's first ever compact SUV and also the first Jeep vehicle built in Europe. Today, more than 135,000 Renegade units have rolled off the Melfi production line in Italy so far, contributing in no small way to the Jeep brand's continuing growth, having achieved its most successful sales year ever in 2014 with more than one million units sold. More recently, Jeep has enjoyed its best August sales month ever in North America while in Europe Jeep is the region's fastest-growing automotive brand so far in 2015, with the new Renegade already established as a best seller in Italy, France and Austria.

DS Automobiles' Three World Firsts

With its DS 4 Crossback Concept, New DS 4 & DS 4 Crossback and the DSV-01 Formula E car, DS Automobiles is on the offensive at the 2015 Frankfurt Motor Show. The DS stand represents a product and technology offensive, with new models and an expanded connectivity offering with the arrival of Apple CarPlay™ on DS

Connect. Visitors are also able to see Baby DS, star of the new DS Connect adverts. In a setting that will showcase elegance, French expertise, technology and the avant-garde spirit, the DS Automobiles stand is a must-see at the 66th International Motor Show in Frankfurt.

British Car Makers Unite!

The UK car industry united on Thursday 10th September, for a unique send-off ahead of one of the world's most influential motor shows – and the biggest in Europe. In an extraordinary gathering in Greenwich, London, senior executives from across the industry were joined by Business Secretary Sajid Javid, alongside 10 of their most exciting new cars now flying the British flag at this year's Frankfurt International Motor Show. Vehicles from the broad spectrum of Britain's thriving automotive industry were on display, from volume-produced family hatchbacks to high-end luxury and sports models. The global appetite for high-quality British-built cars has never been stronger with exports to more than 100 countries worldwide. Demand across Europe grew more than 10% last year, and overall car exports were worth £24.6 billion in 2014 – the most ever.

Nissan Gripz Concept Makes Global Debut

Designed to build on Nissan's pioneering Crossover leadership, Nissan's Gripz Concept has made its global premiere at the Frankfurt Motor Show. Inspiration for the Nissan Gripz Concept came from the legendary 240Z desert racers as well as the sleek two-wheel world of road cycling. The design explores a new sporty direction for a Crossover concept and was conceived to create an innovative new driving sensation. The world premiere took place at the Nissan stand on September 15th, 2015. Stay tuned for more innovative Crossover thinking from Nissan.

Fisher is shaping up

NORTHAMPTON SAINTS

Jon Fisher isn't worried about replacing the departed Samu Manoa and is instead focussed on putting his own mark on the number eight shirt for the Northampton Saints this season.

American powerhouse Manoa signed for European champions Toulon during the summer after four successful years at Franklin's Gardens, during which he became one of the Premiership's most feared forwards.

His departure has given Fisher, as well as Sam Dickinson, a wonderful chance to fill his shoes as the Saints look to claim their second league title in three seasons.

Fisher said: "Samu is a class act and everyone here knows that, but I just want to bring what I brought into games last year."

"I could say that we're different players but that's pretty clichéd because we're not, we're pretty similar, so I need to do that shirt justice when I get the opportunity."

"With the depth of the pack we've got this season even the 'A' League squad will be impressive but, for me, when you get the opportunity to play in that jersey you cannot play badly."

"Everything around you is in place for you to play well and if you play badly there are so many players around who are going to come in and play well."

"There are no excuses, physically, as we've had a hell of a long time to prepare so you need to be in the best shape of your life now."

Bizarre double for Byrom

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

Joel Byrom was certainly fully involved in Northampton Town's 4-2 victory at Morecambe last Saturday as he scored at both ends.

The midfielder first struck with a free kick out wide that drifted all the way into the far corner to give the Cobblers a 3-0 lead early in the second half.

Set pieces are something Byrom frequently practices, saying: "When you take those sort of free kicks from wide areas you look to try and aim for the back post and see if somebody gets a touch."

"If nobody gets a touch you hope it goes in and luckily for me it did. You do a lot of work on them as it's such a tight league."

Byrom then blotted his copybook somewhat with four minutes left when he turned the ball into his own net to give the Shrimps a late consolation, although the own goal was at first credited to Ryan Cresswell.

"I just tried to get myself back into the box and defend," Byrom said, "and I thought I'd just let the ball hit me and it'd go out for a corner. Unfortunately, it hit me between the legs and went into the net."

"It was just one of those things. I got myself well away from it after it went in but the lads were having a bit of a go at me after the game because if that didn't go in we were in the play-offs."

TAMING THE SHRIMPS: It was an eventful afternoon for Byrom at Morecambe where Lawson D'Ath scored the opening goal

Awesome foursome at Morecambe but fans' campaign for answers is continuing

GRIPPED BY THE COBBLERS

Northampton put in a 4x4 performance last weekend by putting four past Morecambe and ending the Shrimps' four game win streak. Yet, fans' concerns over the stalled £10.5 million Sixfields redevelopment remain with supporters' trust elected fan rep Andy Clarke resigning from the board of the club.

Cobblers find themselves in the strange position of having a team doing well on the pitch, but a fan-base split over the relevance of the whereabouts of the multi-million Council loan for the stadium works and the identity of the club's prospective new owners, still unknown after 13 weeks.

Supporters that occupy themselves entirely with on-pitch matters will be content at present with Town up to 8th place in League 2 after the win on the Lancashire coast via goals from Lawson D'Ath, Sam Hoskins, Joel Byrom and Dominic Calvert-Lewin.

But football club's operations go further than results in 90 minutes and fans asking difficult questions of the club's majority owners the Cardoza family are still demanding a reply to their #WeWantAnswers campaign. Relations between the Cardozas and the supporters' trust soured further when Clarke, the fans' rep on the club board, resigned, citing difficulty in creating an "effective link between the Trust and the football club".

Clarke's resignation rings alarm bells given the Trust received two places on the Northampton Town board after effectively rescuing the club in the early 90's from the mismanagement of Michael McRitchie. Indeed, Clarke follows local businessman and long-time Town fan David Jackson in recent resignations from directorships of the club.

Certainly it would be interesting to contrast David Cardoza's ideas of the purpose of a supporters' trust with those of the wider football community.

It may well be that the mild-mannered Clarke is replaced by someone more determined to get the response, not forthcoming from the Cobblers, to the #WeWantAnswers questions published on the Trust website and protest flyers.

Cardoza is perhaps fortunate that Chris Wilder's side's results have picked up, the Cobblers securing two wins on the bounce. Town face top of the league Leyton Orient at Sixfields on Saturday carrying the chance to move to within a point of the high flying O's via victory. Wilder has selection headaches as top-scorer Marc Richards returns to rival progressive Sheffield United loanee Calvert-Lewin for a single forward berth in Wilder's preferred 4-2-3-1 formation.

Whatever the case, a club's overall health can be measured by its relationship with its supporters trust' and the Cobblers' has never been worse. We must hope that the new owners, as well as the small matter of revealing who they actually are, foster a collaborative working relationship with fans that David and Tony Cardoza have never quite managed.

Foden is back and looking to make up for lost time

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

Ben Foden hasn't been able to play rugby since he ruptured his anterior cruciate ligament against the Ospreys in January, and the Northampton Saints full back admitted there were some dark times.

The injury deprived 30-year-old Foden of the chance to compete in a Rugby World Cup in his own country with his recovery coming just too late for him to be considered.

Fortunately, his young family were able to help him through what has been a tough eight months, where he was desperate to try and prove his fitness ahead of the tournament.

Foden said: "The injury came at a really bad time because I was starting to string some good form together, putting some pressure on the other 15s and competing for that England shirt. "But, c'est la vie, it wasn't to be and I look forward to other challenges around the corner with Saints and, hopefully in the future, England as well.

"To be honest, when I first got injured I wasn't in a good place but I spoke to Stuart Lancaster and he gave me the first bit of light at the end of the tunnel by saying it was possible to get back for the World Cup."

Although Foden didn't make Lancaster's 31-man squad, his quality and experience could make him one of the first men to be called upon should anything happen to full backs Mike Brown or Alex Goode.

But he is aware that getting back into the fold won't be straightforward given the amount of competition for his position.

Foden said: "It's competitive and you've got (Danny) Cipriani sort of in that limbo area of covering 10 and 15 and they have other choices there."

"But I think I worked well when I went down there for the week when I trained on the wing and I trained at full back."

"Hopefully I'll be in their thoughts – I don't really wish injuries on anyone, but it does happen in rugby and if it does then I'll definitely be ready and waiting and hopefully I'll take the opportunity if it arises."

Despite joking about being an 'old man in the squad' Foden has ambitions of playing for at least five more years and has even set himself goals for after the World Cup.

He represented his country in the 2011 World Cup in New Zealand and he is looking to add to his 34 international caps, but he spoke of one particular honour not yet on his CV.

He said: "I've had a great career up until now. Obviously I want to do big things here at the club – I still want to win a European Cup here."

"An England career is still there to aim at and there's a Lions tour in two years as well, which is the last feather in my cap in terms of the international stage so it's all to play for."

"I like to joke and say I'm getting old but hopefully that will put me in good stead because I'm a bit more experienced and wiser."

Japan produce the biggest-ever upset

HISTORY MEN: Japan shocked the world

RUGBY WORLD CUP

Sometimes columnists are absolutely delighted to be proved wrong and at no time can that be truer than with what happened at Brighton on Saturday evening.

Last week, yours truly predicted South Africa would wipe the floor with Japan in their Rugby World Cup opener at the Amex Stadium.

Yet Japan produced what is without doubt the greatest upset in the tournament's history as Karne Hesketh's stoppage-time try gave them an unforgettable 34-32 win.

While Northampton Saints' new boy Victor Matfield will disagree, this was the best possible result for a competition in its early stages as it suggests that the big boys won't have things all their own way.

What it certainly has done is blow Pool B wide open, which is good news for the Saints' Samoan trio of Kahn Fotuali'i, Ken Pisi and George Pisi as it now looks like their pool stage will be more than just a scrap for second place with Scotland.

The Pacific Islanders had a happier time in Brighton as, with Fotuali'i and Ken in their line-up, they defeated USA 25-16, thanks to tries by Tim Nanai-Williams and Ofisa Treviranus.

While the performance wasn't convincing, England opened by defeating a dangerous Fiji 35-11, with Tom Wood the only forward to stand out in a disappointing display by the hosts' pack.

Courtney Lawes was one of the men up front that was oddly subdued, but Kieran Brookes was part of a bench that allowed England to finish strongly and claim a bonus point right at the death.

In terms of scoring eight tries in their comfortable 54-9 win over minnows Uruguay, Wales got exactly what they wanted out of the match after they left out several key players, including George North. See full column online.

Wilder: Bring on the Orient

BY MATT WRIGHT
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

After his side scored four goals away at Morecambe last Saturday without top-scorer Marc Richards, Northampton Town manager Chris Wilder is convinced they can cause Leyton Orient plenty of problems when the League Two leaders visit on Saturday.

The Cobblers head into the match at Sixfields in great spirit after producing a very good performance in their 4-2 win at the Globe Arena to earn a second consecutive win and move to within goal difference of the play-off places.

Richards missed the game with a side strain, but 18-year-old Sheffield United loanee Dominic Calvert-Lewin filled in superbly up front with Sam Hoskins also among the scorers as Northampton took apart a Morecambe team that had begun the season well.

While Richards is available again, Wilder believes they pose a threat with or without him, saying: "I think we can score whether Rico's in the team or not, as we're creating chances.

"We're still missing Ricky (Holmes), who is a big player for us, but we've got certain players at the top of the pitch that we feel can cause problems.

"The two young players (Calvert-Lewin and Hoskins) up there last Saturday did outstandingly well while I think Lawson D'Ath and Nicky Adams had their best games so far this season so we were firing.
